Nature Reserve Lueneburgh Heath

Only a couple of kilometres away, the “Wilseder Berg” forms with 169 metres the highest elevation in the middle of the nature reserve-Lueneburgh Heath. From its top you have a unique view over the area of the heath, and during long hiking tours, cycle tours, or coach rides through the wonderful landscapes you can relax and enjoy nature. If you are lucky you might even see a shepherd with one of the eight flocks of sheep (Heidschnucken).

The heath-ranger Mr. Jan Brockmann, a biologist, offers plenty of possibilities to get to know and discover the Lueneburgh Heath in his own way. For example there are regular slide lectures on big screens or you can earn a “Heath-Diploma”.
